

TAX LIST ABATEMENT

OF OVER $5,000.

Judgment Given in Suit of Nevin Estate vs. Town of Waterford.

In a short calendar session for the September term of the civil superior court at New London Friday morning, Judge William B. Case on the bench, judgment according to stipulation was confirmed in the case of Russell H. Nevin, executor, and others vs. town of Waterford. The judgment requires for the estate of David Nevin, late of Waterford, a reduction in the estate's tax list for 1911 from a total of $24,555 to $22,145.

In the grand list of the town of Waterford for 1911 the property of the estate was placed by the assessors at $24,555, consisting of homesteaded at $2,000, 98 acres of land at $1,560, and 114 building lots at $13,995. The judgment places the assessed value of the homesteaded at $4,000, strikes off the item of building lots and increases the acreage from 98 to 220 acres at $14,220.

A bond of $100 was ordered in two weeks on the defendant's motion in Joseph Andrew vs. N. Y. N. & H. R. Co., and the same was directed by the court in Frances Wood vs. the Connecticut Co. and Annie Jaffery vs. Connecticut Co. and Katherine A. Hooper vs. Connecticut Co.

Special bail of $1,000 in two weeks was ordered in the assault case of Henry Lewis vs. E. Lynn Pease, and a more specific statement was ordered in two weeks in Chesborough vs. Chesborough.

Karoll vs. Karoll, motion of attachment of defendant for contempt, and Rebecca Ellonsky vs. Iman Ellonsky, award of alimony pendente lite, both went off the list.

In C. H. Trail vs. Mark Stiles the court denied the motion to take from the list and place on court list for failure to comply with a certain section of the general statutes.

An answer in two weeks was ordered in Thomas Howe vs. George C. Raymond and others, a motion for default for failure to plead. This is in the celebrated Knowl Reward case.

Flooding in two weeks was ordered in the case of John T. Young Boller Co. vs. Clinton P. Smith, and the same was ordered in another case brought by the same plaintiff against C. F. Smith and wife.

In Philip H. Hendrick vs. Charles D. White, an argument of demurrer, Beardsley vs. Beardsley, an order to enter on docket, and Bond and others vs. Littlefield and others, a hearing on defendant's claim and request for trial of facts before jury, all were postponed.

An answer in two weeks was ordered in Isabel B. Harris vs. Ray E. S. Ben-Jamin, a motion for non-suit for failure to file exhibit.

Admitted to the Bar.
Morris Lubchansky of New London was admitted to the bar before Judge Case at this session of court, the oath being administered by Clerk Parsons.

Mr. Lubchansky was also made a commissioner of the superior court. He was studying at the University of Michigan last June at the time of the June bar examinations in New Haven so that a special arrangement was made by which the examination papers were sent to him at college and he passed them there. By the state law now lawyers are to be admitted where they take their examinations, but as Mr. Lubchansky could not be at New Haven at the required time, a special arrangement was made to admit him now at New London. He is to practice in that city.

Cases Were Assigned.

The following assignments of cases were made by Judge Case:
Wednesday, Oct. 2.—Karoll vs. Karoll; Iman Ellonsky vs. Rebecca Ellonsky; Lafayette P. Main vs. Julia Main; Ellen R. Courroy vs. Joseph T. Courroy.

Tuesday, Oct. 9.—Supreme Lodge, N. E. O. P. vs. Louise J. Joyce and others.

Wednesday, Oct. 9.—Mohican Co. vs. city of New London.

The court adjourned at 10.30 to come in Tuesday morning in New London for naturalization.

SOCIALIST CANDIDATE FOR VICE PRESIDENCY.

With Party's Candidate for Governor Addressed Open Air Meeting Here.

Friday noon the socialists conducted a meeting in Willow street near the Hopkins & Allen Arms company's plant with ex-Mayor Seidel of Milwaukee as the chief speaker. Albert Boardman introduced Samuel E. Beardsley of Shelton, socialist candidate for governor, and the latter gave a short address, urging the workmen to unite to work out their own salvation from the present conditions. Mr. Beardsley was applauded on the close of his remarks.

Mr. Boardman then introduced ex-Mayor Seidel, the socialist candidate for vice president. Mr. Seidel stated that the republicans always stood pat and that the democrats stood for all most anything, caring more for the office, apparently, than for any principles. Roosevelt, he said, ruled the nation seven years, and now finds it necessary to start a new party. Twenty-one of the members in his platform were stolen from the socialist party. Why vote for a platform taken from another party?

In regard to the prohibitionists, the speaker stated that in spite of the fact that they blame drink for the workman's troubles, still the man who does not drink fares no better than he who does.

The trust, said Mr. Seidel, have made socialists, and have taught the people how to work and act together. If the people could unite, success would result. If the socialists in judges will be elected who will declare unconstitutional the laws favoring the workman and unconstitutional those favoring the trusts.

New House Nearly Ready.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Speltman, who several months ago moved to this city from New London and have since resided at 27 Union street, expect to be domiciled in their newly built bungalow on Perkins avenue early next week.

BORN

FOLEY—In this city, Sept. 25, a son to Mr. and Mrs. John Foley of Spring street.

DIED.

M'DOUGALD—In this city, Sept. 25, Fannie C. Sherman, beloved wife of John D. McDougald, aged 60 years, 4 months and 15 days.

Notice of funeral hereafter.
